

P.O. Box 105, Holderness, NH 03245

Greetings!

“Golden Pond is very near wherever you are” is one of the opening lines of the play On Golden Pond and is its universal message. Everyone has a Golden Pond, an ideal, a fantasy, a home to go to, even if it’s only in a person’s dreams. On Golden Pond has been translated into 27 languages – soon to be 28 with the addition of Arabic – and has played in more than 40 countries. It is currently running in major productions in Berlin (not NH), Stockholm, St. Petersburg (not Florida) and, give or take, 20 or 30 other cities around the world, large and small. But now, at last, the play is coming home to the town where the movie it inspired was shot, directed, at last, by its author.

Ernest Thompson has directed the successful musical version of On Golden Pond and the blockbuster television production, starring Julie Andrews and Christopher Plummer, but this marks the first time that he’s directed the play that began his career 33 years ago. Working with an extraordinary cast of actors, all of whom appear with Ernest in his new film Time and Charges, this production takes Ernest back to the essence of a story that for three decades has continued to capture the imagination of audiences everywhere. This On Golden Pond is for New Hampshire, where Ernest lives and where, with his partners Morgan Murphy and Lori Gigliotti Murphy, he runs his company, Whitebridge Farm Productions.

“Golden Pond is very near wherever you are” has never been truer for anyone lucky enough to come this summer to the Little Church Theater in Holderness, NH and watch a classic American play come to life in the hands of its creator.

Sharing a common experience creates memories that last. We invite you to bring your group to see this classic American play in the intimate setting of The Little Church Theater. Whether you’re planning an event for your business, church group, book group or retirement village, the Little Church Theater is offering an opportunity your group won’t want to miss! Ask us about the many events happening with this production including post play discussions with the author, Ernest Thompson.

The Squam Lakes offers a variety of other activities, fine dining and accommodations for your group. Please contact us and we will help you get the information you need.
